

- Hosius
(Continued)
between Alexander
and Arms, 207;
advises
Con-
stantine, 211; at
Council of Nicaea,
212, 221,
228; falls
from favour,
290, 316
- Imperial Council, 333 Italy,
invasion
of, 73 ff.
- j
- Jerome,
Saint,
exhortatio
ns against marriage, 348, 349;
dream of,
353
- Jovius,
adopted
name of Diocletian,
8
- Julian, Banquet of the Ccesars,
- Julian,
Emperor, on Constan-tine,
124, 303-
305, on Constantinople, 268 Julian
laws on
marriage,
350
- Justinian,
statue of,
269; builds
Church of St.
Sophia, 274,
276
- Lactantius, estimate
of, as
historian,
40-42, 47
- Land tax, 337 ff.
- Licinianus, becomes
Caesar,
122;
attitude of
- Constan-
tine
toward,
125; life
spared,
133;
death, 243
- Licinius,
Emperor,
at conference of Carnuntu
m, 63; becomes Augustus, 64-66;
successor
of Galerius, 75; and Maximin Daza in eastern half of Ernrjire, 76; attitude to Maximin
Daza, 79, 8p;
alliance
with Con-

stantine, 79; marriage, 79, 106; and Edict of Milan, 107 ff.; other edicts, 109; downfall, 115 ff.; at Milan, 115; victory over Maxi- min Daza, 116, 117; angel's revelation to, 116; execution of Maximin Daza's family, 118, 119; execution of Candidian us, 119; and Constantin e share Empire, 120; war with Con- stantino, 120; defeated at Cibalis, 121; defeated at Mardia, 121; treaty with Constantin e, 122; appoints Licinianus as Ctcsar, 122; gives up important provinces, 122; rupture with Constantin e, 123, 125-127, 154, 157; religious policv, 126, 127; defeated at Aclri- anople, 128; defeated at Chrysopoli s, 130; pleads for his life, 131; death, 132; character, 332; edict of toleration, 138-140;	defeats Maximin, 153; anti- Christian campaign, 154, 15 «?,i 57; throws over Edict oi Milan, 155; exile, i58 Literature, anti-Ch ristian, 145; decadence of, 352; character of pagan, 352; basis of education, 353; renaissanc e of, 354 Ltician of Antioch, famous teacher, 200, 201 Lucilla, censured by Church of Carthage, 162-164; intrigues of, 188 Ludi Cereales, 36 Lycians, petition of, 142, 143  M  Maekail, Mr., History of  Latin  Literature , quoted, 354
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------